

WALLACE TRIED BEFORE A JURY

Arguments Are Heard in Trial of Photographer for Liquor Law
Violation

ARREST OUTGROWTH OF RAID

Defendant Asserts Bottles Contained
Grain Alcohol Used in His Business, Not White Mule

Frank Wallace, local photographer, was being tried today in the circuit court before a jury, on a charge of violating the liquor laws, and little trouble was experienced this morning in securing the twelve men. The evidence was finished this afternoon, and after each side had argued the case for thirty minutes, it was given over to the jury shortly after three o'clock for a verdict.

The men selected to hear the case, consist of the following: Ora Lower, Lon Ryon, Lewis Krammes, D. O. Alter, Thomas Bishop, Lon Kiser, Elmer McCarty, Bert Alter, Walter Kuhn, August Coers, Hartzell Hiner and Seth Moore.

The liquor case was filed in the circuit court after officers made a raid on the studio of the defendant late in the afternoon on April 7, and at that time reported the finding of empty bottles and that one bottle contained a small amount of white mule.

The officers testified on the stand this morning that when they entered the studio, a search of the "dark room" was made, and on account of only a red light, they could not see very distinctly, and that the defendant turned on the water at the faucet and a bottle of what was termed as white mule, was poured into the sink, before the white light, could be turned on.

The defendant testified on his own behalf, and denied that he turned the water on to allow the contents of the bottle to leak out. He stated that he had been handling the bottles containing acid, and that he washed his hands at the faucet.

He denied that the contents of the bottle was white mule, and stated that it was a preparation containing grain alcohol, which he uses in his photography. He stated that other bottles on the shelves had contained a similar liquid, necessary in the development of plates.

A bottle half filled with alcohol rub, was found also in this studio, and he explained that this preparation also was a part of his photography equipment.

The state's witnesses, Sheriff Hunt, and deputies Glendenning and Spradling, and Patrolman Lakin, all of whom conducted the search, stated that the liquid in the bottle

BONDS TAKEN FROM ALERT BANK FOUND

More of Loot Stolen at Decatur
County Institution Dug up From Field Near Indianapolis

BONDS FOUND LAST YEAR

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—Bonds worth $750, a part of the $72,000 loot taken from the Alert State bank in Decatur county in April 1922 were recovered today by detectives after months of search.

The bonds were dug up in a field north of Isley's farm on the Rockville road where $10,000 in bonds were found buried last November.

A total of $64,000 in bonds and $8,000 in currency were taken from the bank. It is thought the robbers disposed of all the loot except the securities recovered.

Cecil Johnson and Dewitt Parker, some time ago pleaded guilty in the robbery case and each was fined $1,000 and sentenced from two to fourteen years imprisonment. Mamie Isley was convicted and received a like sentence and fine.

The cases of Alfred E. Isley, his daughter Opal, and Charles and Walter Perdue are still pending. Robert Prater, held in connection with the case, was surrendered to Illinois authorities.

GRAIN FUTURES ACT TO STABILIZE PRICES

Farmer Representatives Comment
On Action Of Supreme Court In Holding Statute Valid

EFFECT ON BOARD OF TRADE

Chicago, April 17.—Farmers representatives today declared the grain futures act, held constitutional by the supreme court, will go a long way toward stabilizing prices and preventing fluctuations caused by purely speculative factors.

The American Farm Bureau which conducted a long fight for the law stated the opinion "marks an epoch in the progress of agriculture."

"The farmer now can market his own grain," the statement said, "going clear down the channel of distribution with his co-operative-cost-as-basis marketing machine."

While the law may bring about drastic changes in the method of buying and selling grain on the Chicago board of trade, officials of the pit did not believe it would seriously interfere with their operations.

Officials of the exchange said the decision legalized trading in futures and expected it would mark the end of agitation against buying and selling for future delivery.

NEW SPEED RECORDS MADE

(By United Press)

Dayton, Ohio April 17.—Lieut. John MacReady and Oakley Kelly hurtling toward a new world endurance record in the army monoplane T-2, passed the 25 hours mark shortly before noon today.

With several long distance speed records tucked safely under their belts, the veteran pilots were driving their huge plane over the triangular course at an approximate speed of 74 miles per hour.

New records already set by the T-2 during its present flight include speed marks from 1,500 2,000 and 2,500 kilometers.

At 7:40 p. m. the fliers will have equalled the sustained flight record of 34 hours set by a French pilot.

Lieutenant Harold R. Harris, flying a deHavilland 4, hopped off from McCook field at 6:28 a. m. today in an attempt to break all known records for 1,500 and 2,000 kilometers. "I'm out to clean up any records the T-2 may have overlooked," said Harris.

BOOTLEGGERS KILL 2 DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Attempt To Halt Truck Driven By
Rum Runners In St. Bernard Parish,
La., Proves Fatal

SCENE OF MANY CLASHES

(By United Press)

New Orleans, La., April 17.—Two deputy sheriffs were killed in a battle with alleged bootleggers near here today according to advices to police.

The deputies attempted to halt a truck driven by alleged rum runners in St. Bernard Parish and were met with a volley of shots, the report said. The two officers died almost instantly.

Posses have been formed and are searching for the bootleggers. The shooting was the culmination of numerous clashes between rum runners and hi-jackers and deputies. Two persons were injured in a battle between hi-jackers and whiskey runners on the same highway a week ago.

According to two deputies who had witnessed the gun fight, one deputy stepped into the middle of the road and ordered the driver, a negro, to halt. The negro replied by shooting the deputy in the mouth, fatally wounding him.

An instant later an explosion was heard a few yards back and the other deputy was riddled with buck shots, fired at close range from ambush.

LAST BILL IS A FITTING CLIMAX

Final Performance Of Little Theatre
Society Monday Night Wins Universal Praise

GOOD ACTING STANDS OUT

Characters in "The Bishop's Candlestick" Convincing—Other Plays
Please Big Crowd

What is universally regarded today as a fitting climax for the first season of the Little Theatre Society of Rushville, was presented Monday evening at the Princess theatre as the third bill of the society, which was in the form of three one-act plays, "The Florist Shop," "The Bishop's Candlesticks" and "The Choir Rehearsal."

The attendance equalled that at any other one of the season's programs and the praise given the coaches and players was lavish.

Robert Hinshaw, who played the part of the convict in "The Bishop's Candlesticks" stood out as one of the most promising of the amateur actors that have been discovered through the medium of the Little Theatre plays.

His delineation of the character of a man who had been in prison for ten years who had been changed from human to beast and who valued human life as nothing, and who was touched by the love and charity of the bishop, was by far the best bit of acting of the whole performance.

Mr. Hinshaw's voice served him well, expressing the anguish he had suffered in prison, the fear that continually clung to him following his escape from prison and the contrition of a changed heart when he realized, after the bishop saved him from being returned to prison, that there was some good in the world after all.

Amos Baxter, as the humble man of God, made very realistic the part of the bishop, whose word was law even with the police and whose most cherished possessions, the silver candlesticks, a gift from his mother on her deathbed, were sacrificed in order to save a soul.

Miss Katherine Wyatt as Per-some, the nagging sister of the bishop, interpreted the part well, and Miss Gertrude Wilkinson also was good as Marie, the maid. Richard McManus, sergeant of police, and Eugene Kelley and Paul Spivey as policemen, completed the cast.

The first play on the bill, "The Florist Shop," was especially attractive, not alone because of the lines and the very clever acting, but

A SERMON ON COURTESY

The Rev. E. W. McKibben Says it Costs Nothing and is The Most Savory Fruit of Love

The Courtesy Week program being launched this week in the schools of the county, under the auspices of the Kiwanis club, held several meetings this morning in the schools, and the speakers will continue their campaign until Friday, carrying the message of courtesy into all school rooms.

The schools and the speakers, to be visited Wednesday are Circleville, Samuel L. Trabue and Will Jay; Richland, Robert Mansfield; Applegate, Thomas Arbuckle; Gary, H. V. Logan; Walnut Ridge, William A. Young; Havens building, Homer Havens.

The schools to be visited Thursday are: Jackson school J. P. Frazer, Sr.; New Salem, Walter R. Thomas; Manilla, Frank Green; Freeman Corner, B. F. Miller; Gahimer, B. D. Farthing; Mays, C. M. George.

On Friday, the schedule will include the following schools and speakers: Alexander, Samuel L. Trabue and Will Jay; Nett's Corner, Robert Mansfield; Gings, Thomas Arbuckle; Sumner, H. V. Logan; Webb, William A. Young; Washington school (Rushville), B. F. Miller.

The Rev. E. G. McKibben, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of this city, delivered a sermon Sunday morning in connection with the Courtesy Week movement, taking for his subject, "The Grace of Courtesy," basing his text on First Corinthians, 13th Chapter.

"The 13th chapter of first Corinthians has always held a high place in the estimation of the church," the minister said. "It ranks along with the 23d psalm, and Isaiah, 55th chapter and with the song of Mary as recorded in Luke 1:46-55. It is a gem of literature. It is among the loftiest flights of eloquence.

"No other writer, sacred or profane, has ever condensed so much matter into so small a space on the abstract subject of love. After having discoursed somewhat fully on the subject of spiritual gifts, and having shown the unity of the church using the different members of the human body as an illustration, he turns to the subject of love as a distinctively Christian grace, and more-over a more excellent way show I unto you."

"The better way, is the way of love," continued the minister. "Other gifts and graces were to be earnest-

SPARKS SET FIRE TO G. W. YOUNG'S HOUSE

Damage Estimated At $300 Results
From Large Hole Being Burned
In The Roof

TIN ROOF IS ALSO DAMAGED

Sparks believed to have been caused from a flue burning out at the residence of George W. Young, 414 North Main street, set fire to the roof of the large two story house this morning shortly before ten o'clock and damage estimated at $300 resulted.

The roof was on fire around the rear chimney, when the fire department was called. All three divisions made the run, and the blaze was soon extinguished with chemicals. One line of hose was laid, but it was not needed.

The damage to the dwelling consisted of burning a large hole in the roof, and the sharp points on the firemen's ladder ruined a tin roof over a one story annex. The fire however, is regarded as a lucky one because many of the large dwellings in that block are close together, and a serious fire was averted. Mr. Young, who resigned as city attorney on January, carried sufficient insurance to cover the loss.

ADVISORY BOARD PRAISES STATION

Resolution Passed On Purdue Extension Work Urges Cooperation Of All Agencies

OF GREAT VALUE TO STATE

Board Believes Divisions Of Station Should Continue To Study Marketing Problems

Approval and praise of the assistance given Indiana agriculture by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Purdue University, both in production and marketing of farm products, was given in a resolution adopted recently by the Advisory Board of the Experiment Station. The resolution also urged the extension of the marketing work and "co-operation with all agencies working to this end, as a necessary basis for the prosperity and welfare of the people of the entire state."

The advisory board is composed of D. F. Maish, Frankfort, representing the Indiana Corn Growers' Association; T. L. Ferris, Stenben County, Indiana State Farm Bureau; U. R. Fishel, Hope, State Poultry Association; W. O. Mills, Mooresville, Indiana Livestock Breeder's Association and R. A. Simpson, Vincennes, Indiana Horticultural Society. The resolution follows:

That the members of the Advisory Board of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, having fully informed themselves of the activities and services of the Agricultural Extension Service, and the School of Agriculture of Purdue University, consider it highly important for the people of the State of Indiana to realize that these activities have been carried on in a most intelligent, economical and effective manner; and that the services rendered to the agriculture of the state have been of incalculable worth.

While emphasis has been placed upon increased and better farm production such emphasis has been a proper and necessary one. The officers and department of all the many agricultural divisions of the University have not been unmindful of the depressed condition of the agriculture of the state during recent years and of the supreme importance of effective and economical distribution and marketing of all farm products. They have already made important contributions to the solution of the problems of the marketing of livestock, of dairy products, of fruits, and of vegetables.

This board is of the firm opinion that the several agricultural divisions of the University should continue to devote themselves to a serious and larger study of the complex problem of the profitable marketing of products, and to co-operate with all agencies working to this end as a necessary basis for the prosperity and welfare of the people of the entire state.

EGG FLAVOR DEPENDS ON FEEDS GIVEN HEN

Fowls Forced to Forage For Food Eat Things That Taint The Eggs They Lay

WHAT FLAVOR COMES FROM

Most people believe that if an egg is reasonably fresh it will be perfectly satisfactory. Although freshness is a cardinal virtue in an egg, the quality of taste is almost equally important.

Fowls that are fed upon clean, wholesome food will seldom lay ill-flavored eggs.

Eggs from hens that are compelled to forage over the farm and are supplied with very little grain are likely to be flat in flavor, except during the time of year when there is an abundance of green stuff. It is different when hens are kept in yards and have their feed supplied to them.

Eggs become tainted when hens get their feed from manure heaps, or their drinking water from cow yards. Odors and flavors in an egg may even be caused by dirt that has gotten on the shell. For this reason, cleanliness in the nest and houses is essential.

Flavoring comes from feeds that contain volatile oils, such as onions, garlic, leeks, turnips, rape, etc. Onions, for instance, are a healthful feed for fowls, but if fed regularly and in large quantities they give the eggs an onion flavor.

Prime, clean food and an abundance of pure, fresh water will almost always insure eggs of good flavor, if the fowls are healthy.

PURDUE INFLUENCE IS FELT IN OHIO

The influence of Purdue University for better farming methods is felt far beyond the confines of Indiana, as well as in the state, judging from reports being received repeatedly from men and women in agriculture. A letter, typical of many tells of the success obtained with poultry by following the Purdue methods. It was written by Mrs. Beulah Hulbert of Hicksville, O. The letter follows:

"A friend, who has been using Purdue bulletins, has loaned us his copies for reference. There are now nine new poultry houses here modeled from Purdue type. My own house is included in the list. We are well pleased with this type. We have just finished a brooder house built along the same lines. Now we have decided to feed the Purdue way."

FARMERS LOOK TO GOOD YEAR AHEAD

Farm Prices Are Now Higher Than They Were a Year Ago, And Better Than Last December

NO BIG SURPLUS STOCKS

Prospects Favor Advance and Steady Market For Hogs in Late Summer And Early Fall

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17—Indiana farmers have prospects of a better year, with prices today higher than those obtaining either at the beginning or the close of the 1922 crop year. George C. Bryant, crop statistician for Indiana of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, contrasts the conditions of the two years by saying the outlook now is more encouraging for the thrifty farmers.

All of the farmers' best revenue producers, except hogs, now call for higher prices, and Mr. Bryant, in his current monthly report, declares prospects favor "a slight advance and a steady market for hogs in the late summer and early fall." He adds that it is probably that the south will be a heavy buyer of northern pork and lard next fall. He also finds the outlook for wool favorable for a year or two at least.

No big surplus stocks of any of the principal crops are now in the farmers' hands, and this condition is regarded as especially favorable to the farmer. Clover seed, now an important item for purchase by the Indiana Farmer, also is costing less than a year ago.

Comparative prices obtained from the agricultural statistician are those actually paid on the farm for products, and not the market quotations, which generally are higher. Beef cattle are reported 70 cents a hundredweight higher than last year, with veal calves $1 higher, as also lambs. The farm price for wool is 34 cents, an advance from 19 cents last year. Hogs are about $1 lower.

For the principal crops, the following table shows the farm prices of Dec. 1, 1921 and 1922, as compared with those of March 15, 1923.

SHOWS VALUE OF TESTING BODIES

Report Received at Dairy Extension Office of Purdue University From Hamilton County

EIGHT UNPROFITABLE COWS

Discovered as Result of Testing Association. Not to be Giving Enough Milk to Pay Board

Lafayette, Ind., April 17—Eight unprofitable cows were sold during March by members of the Hamilton County Cow Testing Association, the work of the tester revealing to the owners that these cows were not giving enough milk to pay their board. This report, received by the dairy extension office of Purdue University, is similar to many and shows the value of the cow testing associations in helping weed out boarder cows.

"One member, who sold two cows had an income over feed cost of $121.04 in February and for March $121.70, or 66 cents more," reads a report on the work. These two cows shown by the tester's records as unprofitable, actually lacked 35 cents each of paying their board for milk produced during the month.

The average production of the 418 cows tested in March was 709.5 pounds of milk and 29.17 of fat. Their product sold for an average of $19.73 per cow while the average feed cost per cow was $10.93, leaving an income of $8.80 per cow above feed cost.

A good illustration of the effect of balanced rations on dairy cows was found in one herd. The owner had a cow that freshened in November, which in January produced 35.8 pounds of butterfat; in February 44.3 pounds and in March 50.4 pounds. This cow was not fed any more grain in March than in January, but it was properly balanced, at the suggestion of the tester. One member stopped feeding grain in February. His herd profit in January was $59.56. In February, without grain, it was $18.24 and in March, when he resumed it, his profit jumped back to $45.58, emphasizing the importance of a properly balanced grain mixture if maximum production is to be obtained at the lowest cost.

COUNTY AGENTS HELPS GROWERS OF TOMATOES

There has been a tomato factory in Orange County for several years that makes a tomato paste which, it is said, cannot be duplicated anywhere in the United States for flavor and color. If the tomato plant has been properly fertilized and cared for, early in the season, the agriculturalist of the company and County Agent E. E. Stinson got together and figured out that if the growers could be induced to use 500 pounds of the 2-12-6 fertilizer, the company and the grower would both benefit thereby. The matter was taken up with the company which decided to put up the following proposition: Each grower to put 500 pounds of 2-12-6 fertilizer on each acre that he grew for the company; the grower agrees to get the fertilizer from ear door at cost; make a note that draws no interest for the fertilizer, same to be paid out of the first tomatoes delivered to the factory. The company agrees to furnish fertilizer at lowest price on the market without interest and to pay a bonus of $1.00 per ton for all tomatoes grown on fertilizer ground up until the price of the fertilizer has been reached. This means that 350 to 400 tons of 2-12-6 fertilizer will be used and that the quality of the product will be good.

In order to secure the greatest returns and to have a minimum of losses, constant care and attention is required from the time the pig is born until it is marketed. In fact, attention to the pig should begin before birth, and much can be accomplished through the feed and care of the pregnant sow.

Feed Acme Pig Meal to Grow Your Pigs. Feed Acme Pig Meal, equal to milk, to wean your pigs successfully. It takes the place of the mother's milk, weans them with the sow at 3 weeks of age and prevents runts and setbacks so common at the weaning time and keeps them growing.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y. — "I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives." — Mrs. ENGELMANN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englemann. You should give it a fair trial now.

The Minimum Wage Decision

To the average, normal, unprejudiced lay mind, the minimum wage case, will appear to be sound not only in law but in common sense. Dismissing for the present the question of constitutionality upon which the Court declared the minimum wage law unconstitutional let us look at the matter from the practical standpoint.

If it is within the province of Congress to enact a law prescribing a minimum wage which must be paid to women as this law did, then it is within the province of Congress to prescribe a minimum and a maximum wage for men. The only reasoning upon which such a law can be based is that a specified wage is necessary in order to enable the recipient to live properly. But there are two parties to a wage contract. If it is the duty of Congress to say that a certain person is entitled to a specified wage, it must likewise be the duty of Congress to say that other persons shall not be required to pay more than a specified wage. There is just as much injustice in exacting too high a wage as there is in paying too small a wage. If the Government takes jurisdiction over the one, it must take jurisdiction over the other.

Throughout the United States there is today and has been for several years a shortage of housing. This shortage is due very largely to the high cost of construction. Carpenters, brick masons, plumbers, painters, plasterers, are getting fabulous wages and because of these wages hundreds of thousands of people are going without adequate housing. The health of these people who are not living in decent homes is being jeopardized. If it be within the province of Congress to say that one laborer is entitled to receive no less than a certain wage, it is also within the province of Congress to say that the home-builder shall not be required to pay a wage so high as to preclude his ownership and occupation of a decent home.

But incomes are not always expressed in wages. If the wage earner is entitled to an income sufficient to enable him to maintain what Congress deems a decent standard of living other persons who are not dependent upon wages but who get their income in other forms are entitled to exactly the same protection. There are hundreds of thousands of farmers, large and small, who are not receiving a decent wage, if we are to accept the standards established by those who have been conducting propaganda in behalf of what they call a "living wage." Neither Congress nor a state legislature can properly enact class legislation. If we are to have a minimum income fixed by law it must be fixed for the farmer as well as for the city worker.

There is another phase of this question that must be considered when weighing it from a standpoint of common sense. If wages are to be fixed by law this means that cost of production will be fixed by law. Every increase in wages means an increase in cost of production and every increase in cost of production means an increase in cost of living. Every increase in the cost of living must be followed by another increase in the wage in order to make up for the increase in the cost of living. There we would have a circle of increasing costs and wages brought about by law regardless of economic conditions.

Such a process is necessarily doomed to failure.

What The New Laws Mean

Vital Provisions of the Indiana Statutes That Will Soon Become Effective

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—New road laws, passed by the recent Legislature, are beginning to forecast their effect, and in anticipation of their results Governor McCray and the State Highway Commission have laid down a program calling for the paving of 1,000 miles of highway in three years. In addition, the new laws will make it possible for another 1,000 or more miles of gravel roads to be taken into the state highway system.

The 2-cent gasoline tax collection of which begins June 1, and the increase of 60 to 100 percent automobile license fees, beginning next January 1, alone make possible the big highway improvement program, for without them the paving program would have been about 350 miles instead of 1,000 miles for the three years. To the autoist, the laws mean that each added dollar he will pay, another dollar will be paid to the state by the federal government to match his dollar in financing the paving program. The new laws also carry a provision sending $500,000 this year, and $1,000,000 annually hereafter, back to the counties to aid county highway projects. The new license fees will range from $8 to $30 except that truck fees will be from $10 to $250. Four paved highways stretching across Indiana from Ohio to Illinois, and two extending from the Ohio river to the Michigan line are a part of the program that will bring a veritable net work of paved highways in the state. Contracts for a part of the program already have been let, the plan calling for 152 miles being built this year, 405 miles next year, and 400 miles in 1925.

While the Legislature made possible the expansion of the state highway system, it also brought about a holiday in road building by the townships and counties by cutting in half the debt limit for road building. This will prove a far-reaching economy, reflected in the tax receipts a few years hence. A fourth important law, enacted by the Legislature, was that directing the state highway commission to pave streets of towns having 2500 or less population, when the streets are a continuation of a state road that is being paved. Four towns—Westfield, Carmel, Lakeville and Lapaz—already have been named to profit under this law. Other laws affecting highways, enacted by the Legislature, follow:

AID FOR HIGHWAY COMMISSION—House enrolled act No. 481 authorizes counties, cities and towns to give financial assistance to the state highway commission in construction or maintenance of any state highway or bridge. Money may be appropriated or bonds issued for a road that is later taken into the state system may be diverted to the commission.

TOWNSHIP ROAD SUPERVISORS—Senate enrolled act No. 413 re-establishes township road supervisors and the system whereby taxes may be worked out on the roads. Appointment of supervisors is by the township advisory boards only in the petition of 1 percent of the taxpayers: the supervisors to receive $3 a day; and work limited to 120 days a year. Farmers, during their dull season, will have opportunity to work on the road, under this law, using their teams, and thus pay taxes.

LIMIT OF BONDED INDEBTEDNESS—Senate enrolled act No. 234 directs the county auditor to file notice for highway improvements in the taxing units wherein the limit of bonded indebtedness has been reached, thus warning the tax payers that a road building holiday is advisable.

ANOTHER AID TO TOWNS—Senate enrolled act No. 248 directs the state highway commission out of its own funds to improve streets abutting state owned property, which are continuations of state highway projects.

PAYING FOR ROAD ELECTIONS—House enrolled act No. 275 provides for paying from the county treasury the expenses incurred in holding elections on roads, the establishment of which has been abandoned.

CHANGING ROAD PLANS—Senate enrolled act No. 217 permits the county Commissioners of Fountain County to change the plans and specifications of a highway under construction to permit the crossing of a railroad at grade, instead of underneath it.

STATE LINE ROADS—House enrolled act No. 2 empowers county commissioners to make contracts with county commissioners of adjoining states for the construction and repair of state line roads.

COUNTY LINE BRIDGES—House enrolled act No. 125 authorizes county commissioners, who fail to effect an agreement with the commissioners of adjoining counties for the erection of county line bridges to petition the circuit or superior courts for the naming of viewers to pass on the necessity and utility of pass on the necessity and utility of may be filed with the court but if none is filed and the court finds for the petitioners, it then orders the bridge built.

When you eat Bran for constipation be certain that it is ALL BRAN!

There is no time to fuss away trying to find out just what some mixed-up cereal with a small bran content can do to ward off the grave illness that constantly hovers over constipation sufferers. What your system demands is ALL BRAN! You must have ALL BRAN to give permanent relief! Anything less than ALL BRAN does not have the bulk that gives results! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL BRAN! Kellogg's will do the work; it will give you permanent relief; it will remake your health if you will eat it regularly—because it is ALL BRAN! Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, is wonderful for health. It sweeps, cleans and purifies, ridding the system of the dangerous toxic poisons. Yet it is simply a nature-food—nature's own remedy for constipation; nature's way of keeping every body-organ tuned true.

Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly to give permanent relief naturally—at least two tablespoons daily; for chronic cases, with every meal. It is as beneficial as a preventive. Its nut-like flavor is delicious. You will like it sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal, or eat it as a cereal. Kellogg's Bran makes delightful muffins, raisin bread, pancakes, etc. It adds a fine flavor to soups and gravies. Have the whole family eat Kellogg's Bran and see the health of every member improve.

Picks Yanks, Tigers, Browns

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 17.—Picking the pennant winner in the American League pennant race would not be difficult this year if the Tigers, Browns and White Sox could be erased from the paper with a deft stroke.

Dismissing those three clubs as obstacles in the way of the New York Yankees is a function for baseball, however, and not for experting.

As the pennant race in the National League assumes the advance proportions of a battle royal, so the fight for the championship in the American League offers an opportunity for a lot of prophets to die hard.

Assuming the risk of a hard death next October, the following is submitted for the earnest attention of everyone but the ball players, who have little faith in the opinion of press box managers:

NEW YORK YANKES
DETROIT TIGERS
ST. LOUIS BROWNS
CHICAGO WHITE SOX
PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS
CLEVELAND INDIANS
WASHINGTON SENATORS
BOSTON RED SOX

Figuring that Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel will be of vastly more assistance to the New York Yanks and assuming that George Sisler will not be a complete loss to the Browns, the placing of the first division clubs is not so difficult with the reservation that they will all be first division clubs, although they may not finish in the order named.

Coming to the placing of the second division clubs, it is a good problem for some of those experts who can read the future out of fish bowl.

The inducement of the $10,000 cut of the world's series money that was mentioned as being such a vital factor in the playing of the New York Giants in the other pennant race applies to the Yankees. The lure of the immense purse the athletes would get out of another private New York series ought to give the Yanks the seriousness, ambition and balance that they so sadly lacked in the past. Ruth and Meusel have given indications of a determination to play baseball this year and they are the greatest run-getting combination in baseball. The pitching staff could hardly be recruited to greater strength and the club seems perfectly sound in everything but the morale and spirit department. If they have been moored to the ground by the bitter dose of medicine they were forced to swallow last October in the world's series, they ought to win the pennant.

Two of the pitchers that Miller Huggins may have to keep idle on the Yank bench a good part of the season, would give the pennant to the Detroit Tigers. They may get in there anyway. The lack of pitching material is the chief difference between the Yanks and the Tigers and when one stops to figure that opposing pitchers will have to pitch daily to nine Tigers who hit .300 or better, it seems that pitching should not be such a vital factor for the Tigers. If it isn't, look out, Yanks!

Figuring that George Sisler will be of some service to the Browns, they are placed in third position. The degree to which he will be of service to the club is of utmost importance in figuring the club. If he plays half of the season, the Browns ought to be a first division club at least. If he plays less they may land in sixth place. Even with Sisler playing real Sisler ball all season, which is improbable, the Browns are no longer as strong as the improved Yanks and Tigers.

With some of the keenest playing brains in either league and with promising young players to work along side of the veterans the White Sox seem certain of a place no lower than fourth. They may get higher if the Browns do not step. The Sox have a smart ball club and they have a mighty shrewd manager.

The unprofessional method of tossing a coin was used to place the Philadelphia Athletics in fifth place and the Cleveland Indians in sixth. Their positions at the finish of the race may at least be reversed. It has become a bromide to chronicle annually: "The Athletics have arrived." Old as it is, it may not be amiss to repeat the prediction this year. If the Athletics have not at last arrived, Tris Speaker may be pounding on the door of the first division. The success with new young players makes the form of both clubs problematical.

Washington has been held down in the pennant race two years by the lack of a fighting heart and the Boston Red Sox will have that, if nothing else, under Frank Chance. If Clark Griffith lets Donie Bush alone, he may put some spunk in the Senators and they may finish higher. If he fails the Senators may fight it out with the Red Sox for the cellar.

LANDIS IS UP AT BOSTON

Few Minor League Beauties Get
First Taste of 'Big Ring'—Most
Clubs in Good ShapeBy HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 17.—One-half of the royal family of baseball will go to work this afternoon when the National League starts its forty eighth season.

After the older organization has finished its parading, band tooting and flag raising, the American League will stage its jump off tomorrow.

Four games are carded on the day's program and favorable weather reported early today probably will not necessitate any postponements. The world's champion Giants will open against the Braves in Boston; Cincinnati fans will look at two pennant contenders in their own Reds and the St. Louis Cards; the Pittsburgh Pirates will help the Cubs open their new ball park and Metropolitan fans will have to watch the Phils and the Robins.

Plenty of ceremonies will be provided before their umpires let their annual "play ball" stir the athletes off the bench. It is only on formal occasions like the opener and the big games of the world's series that the umpires put on their high hats and use the words of the book in getting a game started. For ordinary games the more prosaic "come on with a batter" is the approved crack of the whip.

Commissioner Landis will be the ranking dignitary at Boston where Christy Mathewson is to make his debut as a club president. John Heydler, president of the league, picked Chicago for his place of honor in the new park which will seat 32,000 fans. Just ordinary club owners, mayors and leading citizens will hold forth at the other parks.

Two of the prize plants from the minors will get their first look at a big city ball crowd. Jimmy O'Connell, $75,000 Giant outfielder, will make his debut with McGraw's champions and Sands, a $50,000 California shortstop will work in the Philadelphia infield. The Boston Braves also will present a prospective star in Jocko Conlon, former Harvard captain, who will hold down second base for the Braves.

Arthur Nehf or Hugh McQuillan is expected to get the call for the pitching job with the Giants and Tim McNamara, the Fordham college star, will be sent to mound by the Braves. Ring or Meadows probably will pitch for the Phils and the vet Dutch Reuther is expected to be a sure starter for Robins.

Everyone expects a big season because baseball has cultivated the habit of drawing better each year and the prospects are bright for a great pennant battle between the Giants, Reds, Pirates and Cards.

All of the National League clubs are in good condition to start the race. The Giant pitchers have not developed as far as McGraw would like to have them at this time of the year, but the champions are in good shape otherwise. The Reds are crippled somewhat by the absence of Jake Daubert but it is believed now that he will be able to get in the game within two weeks. The St. Louis Cards have two outfielders, Flack and Myers laid up with injured legs, but it is not serious.

The Giants will come in for a little ceremony in Boston when they are presented with diamond rings, the gift of the club owners for winning the series last fall from the Yankees. Last year the Giants were all given diamond watch fobs.

Only one new managerial face will present itself today and that will be the lantern jawed visage of Arthur Fletcher, the former Giant star, who will have a Philadelphia cap pulled down over one eye. Fletcher was game enough to take a job that is almost hopeless.

OPENING DAY WEATHER

New York, April 17.—Clear weather with a bright sun popping out of cloudless skies broke here today for the opening game of the baseball season between the Brooklyn Robins and the Philadelphia Phils at Ebbets Field. John F. Danguy, exalted ruler of the Phils, will toss out the first ball. Pitchers: Ring or Meadows; Reuther.

Boston, Mass., April 17.—Bright sunshine with a light chilling breeze that gave promise of warming weather later in the day cheered thousands of fans keyed up for the opening game between the champion Giants and Christy Mathewson's Braves.

McNamara or Marquard will work for Christy; Nehf or Scott for McGraw.

Cincinnati, O., April 17.—Weather clear and cool, probably attendance 31,000.

Batteries Donohue and Wingo for Cincinnati; Pfeiffer and Ainsmith for St. Louis.

Chicago, April 17.—Chicago and Pittsburgh are to battle before a crowd predicted at 30,000 in the opening game of the National League here today.

A chill wind swept the field before the start. The sky was clear but there was some promise the breeze would moderate.

Alexander was tentatively selected to start for Chicago with Cooper on the mound for Pittsburgh. O'Farrell and Schmidt were scheduled to be on the receiving ends.

Today's game christens the reconstructed Cubs park, enlarged to a capacity of 31,000.

FIGHT RESULTS

Detroit.—Johnny Sheppard, Boston out-fought Phil O'Down, Columbus, Ohio, in ten rounds. Morris Johnson, Chicago defeated Phil Gusmano, Detroit, six rounds.

St. Paul.—Jock Malone, St. Paul recognized as middleweight champion of many states, lost a ten round no-decision fight to Billy Wells Englishman.

One of the first acts of the new city council which he controls, was to pass a resolution 43 to 3, condemning Sunday "blue law" bill introduced in the state legislature by Senator James E. MacMurray. Dever succeeds William Hale Thompson, Republican.

as well for the very artistic setting. The effect which was obtained with artificial flowers made by Miss Henrietta Coleman's high school art students gave the action a background that fit well into the general scheme.

Miss Lillian Priest, who had the part of Maude, the florist's book-keeper, was splendid, as she has always been in local productions. Her affairs of the heart (other hearts, not her own) constituted a very entertaining story that eventually brought together Miss Wells (Miss Grace Ewing and Mr. Jackson (Jack Neely) after an engagement of fifteen years. The book-keeper made every order for flowers a personal affair, weeping with those who had sorrow in their lives and rejoicing with those who found happiness.

Will Worthington played the difficult part as Slovsky, the Jewish proprietor, in a very capable manner, and Glen Somerville brought out all that was to be expected from the part as Henry, the office boy.

The bill closed with "The Choir Rehearsal," which dealt with the troubles of the Rev. Alan Wylie (Albert Cotton) the new minister at Tuckertown, and his lately acquired flock, that had banned Esmeralda (Magdalene Arbuckle) for singing at church, a song that the deacons believed did not fall in the category of hymns.

Barton Smith, as William, who played the organ, was very funny in his interpretation of the character. His make-up, the inflection of his voice and his mannerisms all added to his successful presentation of the part.

Miss Arbuckle also was above the ordinary and was a very pleasing picture in the quaint dress of long ago, singing the song for which the deacons had "chimed" her. The remainder of the choir was composed of Enoch (Will P. Jay) who sang tenor; Amos (Walter Stevenson) who sang bass, and Abigail (Mrs. Overdorf) a neighbor who also sang.

How the new minister approved of Esmeralda's song and won the deacons over to his belief, and how Esmeralda learned the true significance of the song, the theme of which was love, formed a little bit of romance along with the fun, that proved a very effective close for the performance.

Homer Cole's orchestra provided music at the opening and closing of the performance, and between the acts. The musicians gave their services free of charge and their assistance added much to the pleasure of the audience.

The organ used in the last play was from Drake's music store and the furniture used in other acts from George C. Wyatt and company. Millinery was from Dixon's store. Many individuals loaned small articles that helped complete the stage settings.

ly desired, but Christians were exhorted to "follow after love."

"Courtesy is the most savory fruit of love. It costs nothing, yet it is of more value than silver or gold. It wins friends and holds them. It disarms enemies and changes them into friends. It overcomes difficulties and lubricates the wheels of business and society."

"It preserves and conserves the amiable relationship of life and cement the bonds of love and friendship. It is the language of full grown men and women in Christ. If love is the king of the graces, then courtesy stands at his right hand, as his fair queen, and clad in the gold of Ophir."

"Courtesy is seen in the honorable social relationships. These have their basis in the family circle. The home, not the individual, is the unit of society. The success of the whole depends on the integrity of the unit. Society might be compared to a citrus fruit. It is made up of cells, separate and distinct, but if the containing walls are broken down, the fruit is said to be decayed."

"So when the home loses its integrity, society as a whole is far on the way to disintegration. Courtesy has to do, not only with the rights of others within the home, it respects the rights of others. It honors all men; it renders 'Honor to whom honor is due,' fear to whom fear is due.' This latter in the sense of proper respect."

PLANS TO SEARCH MIND OF COUNTRY

Harding To Talk To People On His Western Trip About Things They Are Most Interested In

DOMESTIC QUESTIONS LEAD

President Will Have Laid Before Him Results Of Comprehensive Survey Of Popular Thought

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 17.—President Harding will search the mind of the country so that he can talk to the people on his western trip about things they are most interested in.

He is still of the opinion that domestic questions are agitating the great mass of the people more than international affairs, and is planning his speeches on that basis.

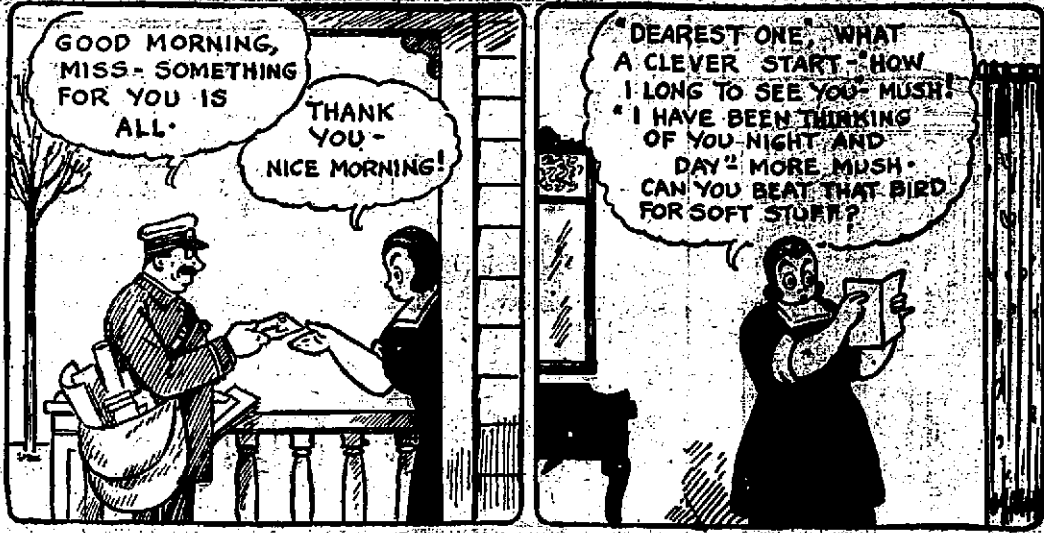

To be certain, however, the president will have laid before him however before he starts, results of a comprehensive survey of popular thought. This is now being made and first indications are that Mr. Harding's size-up of the situation is correct.

The flurry over the world court and the league of nations appeared to be confined mostly to political and party leaders, who unlike Mr. Harding are already frankly engaged in preparing for the 1924 campaign. From the country word comes popular interest in the tempestuous debate at the court proposal, with in the in a party, and the new activities of the league of nations advocates.

Every day, however, Mr. Harding receives additional evidence of the importance of the railroad problem, the taxation question, prohibiting enforcement, the future of the farmers and kindred domestic issues. He believes, too, that with the upward swing of the business pendulum, popular interest in home affairs will increase, and that the administration's program for giving more impetus to the return of prosperity will interest the people more than anything else.

Mr. Harding talked briefly with John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee today about this and other matters.

AMUSEMENTS

Again Today At Mystic

For Every Light In New York, there is a story of a human soul. But all the lights are not the great electric lights of Broadway; neither are they all the dim lights of the Bowery. There are other lights between these extremes—and still other lights outside of them. There are the aristocratic lights of Fifth Avenue, not as flashy as those of Times Square; and there are the steady burning lights in the homes of millions of New York's substantial citizens.

"The Lights of New York" is the feature picture on display again today at the Mystic theatre, and which pleased the crowds at all shows on Monday.

Today Only At Princess

Another thrill that the camera didn't register—because the camera was the principal actor! It took place during the making of "Through a Glass Window," a new May McAvoy Reelart picture released by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation which comes to the Princess today. May McAvoy, the star, Maurice Campbell, director, and Hal Rosson, the photographer, were making scenes in a fast-flying roller coaster at the beach. They anchored the camera to the floor of the car and made one trip around.

On the second round at the top of the "swoopiest dive, the stay-bolt came loose and the tripod lurched wildly. Rosson dropped the crank and threw his arms around the camera while the assistant threw himself down and grabbed Rosson's

ELEVEN SENTENCED TO DEATH

Russians Convicted on Bribery in Distribution of Dwellings

Moscow, April 17.—Eleven persons were sentenced to death here today for bribery in connection with the distribution of dwellings.

All were employees in the Moscow central housing department and were members of a band of sixty placed on trial for a monster bribe plot.

The charge was that these employees furnished dwellings to the applicant who could supply them with the most funds.

Later, it is said, the same methods were employed in the distribution of stores and foodstuffs.

VICTIMIZED BY USING THE MAIL

Government Will Put End To Organizations And Publications Said To Be Fleecing Soldiers

PREY UPON SYMPATHIES

Obtain Money By Solicitation On Pretense Of Using Prestige With Veteran's Bureau

By WILLIAM J. LOSH
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 17.—Spurious war veterans organizations and publications preying upon the sympathies of the American public are to be driven out of existence by the combined forces of the justice and postoffice departments, it was learned here today.

Aggressive investigations by the two departments in the last few months with the aid of commercial and advertising organizations have practically completed the chains of evidence necessary to federal prosecution. A quick clean-up campaign with many arrests is imminent.

The post office department, it is learned, will shortly issue a number of fraud orders naming certain of the bodies as using the mails to defraud, while the department of justice will ask grand jury indictment of the promoters in localities where their offices are located.

Inquiries of the departments secret agents have revealed duping operations on a big scale. Not only have the promoters thrived on the scale of certain publications, proceeds, from which have passed no further than their individual bank accounts, but by cunning solicitations thousands of dollars have been extracted from persons who believed they were contributing to worthy relief causes.

One of the most iniquitous activities of the groups under investigation, it is said, have been their claim to disabled veterans to have influence with the veterans bureau.

Considerable sums have been obtained from the pitances of sick, crippled veterans on the strength of unjustifiable statements that they could speed the settlement of claims or the adjustment of classifications leading to higher compensations.

Much of the credit for lining federal authorities behind the drive on the promoters is given the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, who Commander C. Hamilton Cook, of Buffalo N. Y., today said: "We have a report of more than 100 arrests, principally in the far and middle-west of solicitors purporting to conduct a disabled veterans publication."

"These arrests were obtained through the activity of a national advertising agency. Now we have brought the matter squarely up to the justice of post office departments."

ABOUT $65 CLEARED ON ART EXHIBITION

Sum Realized From Display By Milroy Schools Will Be Used In Purchasing Pictures

LOANED BY CHICAGO FIRM

Approximately five hundred individuals, including the grade and high schools, visited the art exhibition, in the K. of P. lodge rooms at Milroy last Thursday and Friday. The exhibit, which was loaned to the school by the Porter-Motter Manufacturing Co., of Chicago, consisted of over 150 of the world's most famous water colors.

All who saw the exhibition declared it highly instructive and worth while.

Great interest was shown in the pictures by everyone. Miss Helen Jaehne instructor in the high school delivered a lecture at each showing of the pictures, explaining the meaning of many of them, and the ideas which the artists had sought to convey in their work.

About $65.00 was cleared from the sale of tickets, which will be used in purchasing pictures for the grade rooms of the school. As the high school has recently acquired four new pictures, it does not claim any share in the proceeds of this venture.

Double Power Loss from Valves Wedged with Carbon

DOUBLE is RIGHT! The cost and annoyance of frequent carbon cleaning are alone enough to condemn the use of poor motor fuel. But give thought to the bigger loss—the hidden, dangerous loss.

Every mile you run with a sluggish, kerosenish motor fuel, you are compelled to feed a needlessly wasteful volume to make up for the leakage of your carbon-wedged valves. Slow to vaporize, hard to fire, this unbalanced mixture not only releases a steady trickle of oil-weakening kerosene into the crankcases, but constantly builds heavier deposits of the valve-jamming carbon.

Silver Flash Gasoline

is different. It is in chemically correct balance. Each atom of carbon has its proper mate of hydrogen to insure an explosion that leaves no nasty souvenirs behind.

Your valves seat properly. You use only enough gas to fill your combustion chamber. Even the slight trace of carbon that you may find after a long period of running comes from your burned up lubricating oil.
